

OUR MISSION

Every woman has a story. The up and coming woman who is just beginning her journey has a story about where she came from and who she wants to be; the seasoned professional has stories from the road she took to build her career, and advice to offer to ease that journey for others.

Women in construction are still the minority, but we have a growing voice. Women in the industry should be celebrated, both for the achievements to date and for the achievements to come.

Professional Women in Construction (PWC) Philadelphia Chapter is all about women in the construction industry and their stories. We provide an inspiring atmosphere that allows women to learn from each other and grow through support, no matter where they are in their life or career. We are a community of professional women that provides an opportunity for connection and involvement with those who you can impact, and who can impact you.

PWC offers opportunities for women in construction:

- to learn and to teach;*
- to mentor and to be mentored;*
- to introduce and to be introduced;*
- and to lead and be led.*

We are a true peer group of women in construction. Join our dynamic and diverse group of women. Let's write our next chapter together.

OUR COMMITTEES

CONNECTING

Connecting Committee's goal is to make connections with other organizations that will embrace PWC Philadelphia mission to mentor women in their career and professional development. The committee helps the Growing, Learning, and Giving committees obtain their goals by connecting resources from other supporting associations.

Chair: Jackie Harris

Co-Chair: Denise Kopyar

GIVING

Giving Committee supports the chapter's mission of offering a community of professional women that provides an opportunity for connection and involvement, through financial support from industry partners.

Chair: Michelle Santoro

Co-Chair: Danielle Donnelly

GROWING

Growing Committee provides an environment where members can share their collective experiences in a supportive, safe, setting in order to better navigate transitions, opportunities and challenges in their careers.

Chair: Jessica Kavanagh

Co-Chair: Sarah Finnegan

Want to get involved? Contact us to find how you can participate in one of our dynamic committees!

JOINING

Joining Committee's mission is to encourage women within the construction industry to become a member of PWC Philadelphia. We will do this by working collaboratively with the other committees within PWC Philadelphia in order to inform our members of benefits of the organization and encourage involvement in programs and committees.

Chair: Kaitlyn Blazer

Co-Chair: Adrienne Straccione

LEARNING

Learning Committee designs and presents a series of events each year that highlight professional women in and around the AEC community; providing a platform for women to share our stories, tout our successes, and strengthen our position in the industry. We believe that every woman has a story to tell and each of us has room to grow. Through innovative programming, PWC Philadelphia works to provide a space in which we can do both.

Chair: Vanessa Hejnas

Co-Chair: Nicole Carville

STORYTELLING

Storytelling Committee serves two primary roles for PWC Philadelphia: first, to tell the story of the organization to our members, and secondly, to tell the stories of our members to the world. This committee provides communications that encourage members to maximize their PWC experience, whether by attending events or through learning from the stories of others.

Chair: Emily Mahoney

Co-Chair: Erin O'Leary
